All-
Michael from Off the Vine approached me about getting a group of downtown businesses to work on the sidewalk dining concept I proposed a couple of years ago. Only problem is I don't get back in town until the 28th and I will let Michael know. As far as the benches are concerned, my office looks directly at them and they are well used and some folks will spend most of the day on them. It's an attractive nuisance but sadly if you remove the benches they will just sit on the ground like they had been doing for years...

I'm not sure about the outside dining item. I haven't heard anything about it.

In regards to removing the benches, I've heard that "some undesirables" are the ones hanging out at the benches.
